

SUMMER 2018

Since 1927, when John Pedroncelli, Sr. purchased the vineyard and a small winery in Sonoma County's Dry Creek Valley, two elements remain unchanged: the exceptional place the Pedroncelli family farms vineyards, and the family's dedication to making fine wines. Sustainable winegrowing is practiced at Pedroncelli, where over the years they have reduced water use, built healthy soil and protected the vineyard environment.

2015 Mother Clone Zinfandel

Appellation: Dry Creek Valley, Sonoma County

Aging: 12 months in American Oak, 30% new

Alcohol: 14.9%

The Mother Clone is a classic Dry Creek Valley Zinfandel with aromas of red and black berries and a touch of warm baking spices. The concentrated flavors of raspberry and blackberry combine with vanilla, toasty oak, pepper and a dash of nutmeg. The spicy-berry dynamic so typical of Dry Creek Zin combines smooth tannins and bright acidity which are a hallmark of the Pedroncelli style.
